

ASSEMBLIES BRING PAUSES THAT REFRESH

A break in the everyday routine is always welcome, but this year's assemblies were especially appreciated.

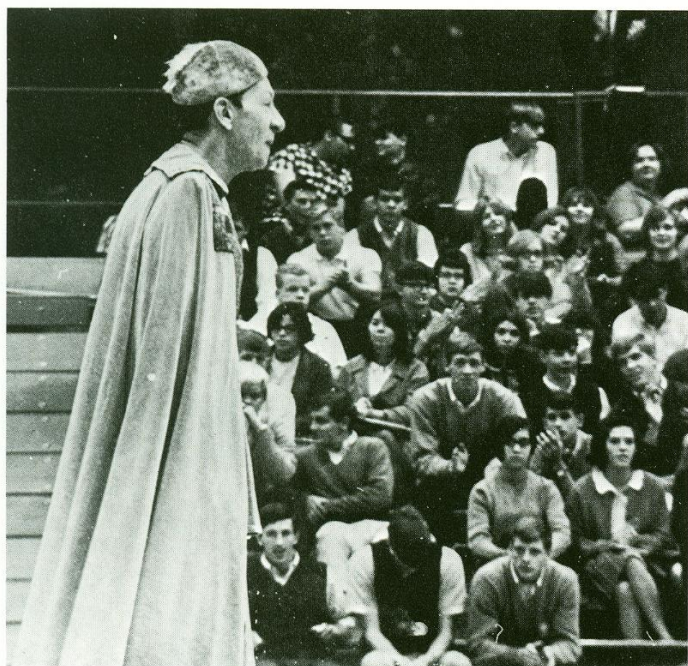

The cheerleaders planned rousing pep fests throughout the season. Besides cheering, these girls surprised the student body with lively skits, hockey in the gym, secret slogans, and a folk song tribute to the basketball team.

On September 23, Mr. Jack Rank presented a one-man interpretation of several Shakespearean characters from "Macbeth," "The Merchant of Venice," and "The Taming of the Shrew."

On November 11, the University of Minnesota Concert Orchestra, directed by Dr. Bencriscutto, entertained WHS students. Also included in the program were solos by a saxophonist and a vocalist.

Before the Christmas holidays the choral department, directed by Mr. Cherwien, presented a traditional program of Christmas carols. At this time a speech group consisting of Pat Bauer, Jackie Keith, Renee Giebenhain, David Christianson, and Richard McDermott, presented a skit entitled "How Come Christmas?"

An interpretation of "A Man Without a Country" was excellently carried out on January 27, by the Drama Duo. This patriotic dialogue was extremely enjoyable and rewarding.

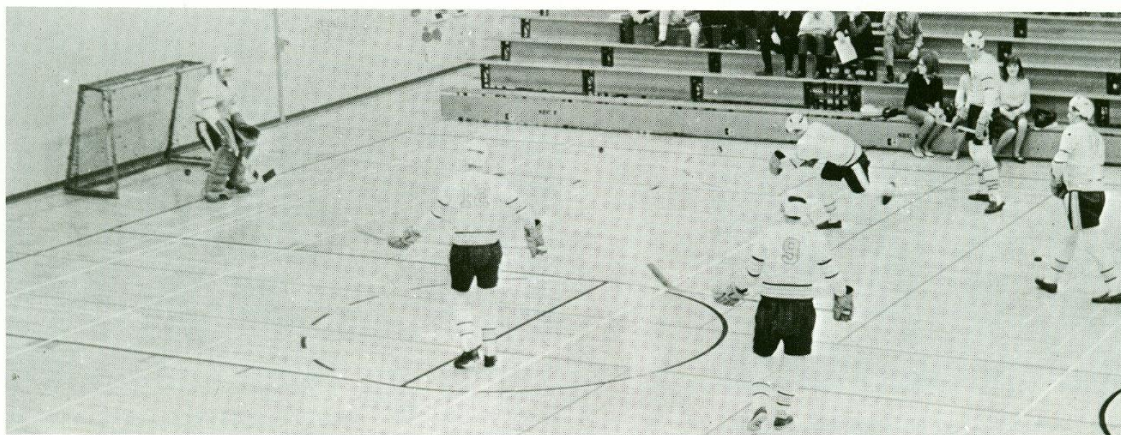

Jack Rank illustrates his talent before an enthralled audience.

An artist from the U of M performs.

AFSer Paul Pasawat proudly accepts a sports blazer presented to him by his teammates.

"I know it's pretty cold out, but this is ridiculous." The varsity hockey team shows how it's done.